Love and Horses Vie for Interest In Fall Play

Love problems of teenagers in the Victorian era and a race-horse in a deanery are two of the themes dealt with in "Dandy Dick," a farce by Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, which has been chosen as the Fall term play at OCE, to be presented November 22-23 in Campbell hall auditorium.

The late 19th century play was selected in keeping with the OCE Diamond Jubilee, with sets and costumes reminiscent of the era in which the school was founded.

Under the direction of Mr. Alan Robb, instructor in English, speech and drama, the cast includes: Salome—Susan Horner, Cascadia; Sheba—Mary Lou Eymann, Canby; Blore—Sam Macintosh, Salem; Major Tarver—Mark Sutherland, Kealakakua, Hawaii; Mr. Darbey—Jack Little, Monmouth; The Very Reverend Augustin Jedd—Brad Everson, Seattle, Wash.; Georgiana Tidman—Judy Jeffries, Portland; Hatcham—Dick Bellman, Drain; Hannah—Kathleen Kelley, Dallas; Noah—Les Green, Eugene; and Tristram—Walter Ponsford, Independence.

Supervising set construction and lighting is Mr. George J. Harding, assistant professor of speech and drama, with John Jensen, Gardiner, acting as stage manager. The stage crew includes: Joyce Akers, Vernonia; Leon Bousha, Bend; Kay Salter and Ray Comstock, both, Salem; and Marj Sutherland. Marjorie Bailey, Springfield, will handle props, and costumes will be under the care of Jean Brown, Scotts Mills, and Karen Jensen, Portland.

544 Receive X-Rays

Wednesday and Thursday of this past week the chest x-ray unit was at OCE giving x-rays to those people wanting them.

During the two days there were a total of 544 persons receiving x-rays of which 427 were students.

Student volunteer workers assisting with the chest x-ray unit were: Geraldine Zehner, Mildred Strode, Marjorie Yasuda, Trudy Schenk, Jeanette Jones, Phyllis Golbek, Annette Amell, Jeanette Riutta, Alice Clark, Deanne Bauman, Myrana Safley, Laticia Gunn, Marilyn Mattoon, Sandra Akins, Delores LaFountaine and Beverly Bluhm.

Game, Dance Hilites Of Dads Day Events

Football, dinner, coffee, dancing and a business meeting form the nucleus of the program of festivities planned for Dad's Day at Oregon College of Education. The annual event will be held Saturday, November 9, on the OCE campus, according to Dr. Arthur Glogau, Dad's club adviser.

Student chairman, Mickey Rogers, reports that all preparations have been progressing rapidly this past week. It was also revealed that the Saturday evening dinner will be at Maaske hall rather than the previously scheduled Todd hall. Mickey reported that 71 dads plan to participate in the activities compared to 50 last year. Dormitory students may dine with their dads and off-campus students may purchase tickets for the grilled steak dinner. Marilyn Ketcham is in charge of the evening meal.

Dr. Lieuallen, Speaker For Education Meets

Dr. Roy E. Lieuallen, president of OCE, was the keynote speaker at the meeting of the Quadrennial Commission on Higher Education of the Oregon Conference of the Methodist church, held in Eugene, Saturday, October 26. Theme for the meeting was "Higher Education in the Coming Quadrennium."

President Lieuallen also was a participant in a panel discussion of "Selective Admissions—College for Whom?" at the annual meeting of the Northwest College Personnel Association in Portland on Friday, Nov. 1.

November 5 to 7, Dr. Lieuallen acted as a member of the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools' visitation team for the re-evaluation of Whitman college in Walla Walla, Washington.

Wagner Opera Group Presents 'La Traviata' In Corvallis, Monday

The New York Opera Festival, presented by the Wagner Opera Company of New York, will appear in Gill coliseum in Corvallis on Monday, November 11. The Italian opera "La Traviata" by Verdi will be performed. The opera presentation is one in a series of programs sponsored by the Civic Music Association. "La Traviata" is an opera peculiar in the fact that it has no villain, no sword play, no killings and no poison. On the surface it is a typical boy-meets-girl love story but the music of the opera has transformed the simple story into a renowned opera classic.

The opera company, under the direction of Felix W. Salmaggi, brings with it a troupe of more than 75 people. In addition to this the company travels with its own scenery, costumes and stage equipment.

Students wishing to attend the concert may obtain tickets in the deans' office.

Dr. Haines Key Speaker For Television Course

Watching someone on their way to see TV in class is a familiar sight at OCE and the U. of O.

As an experiment these two schools are participating in a TV lecture program. The classes watch lectures on Mondays and Wednesdays, taking notes like they do in any regular lecture class, and then on Fridays they use the time for a quiz section or to ask questions about the lectures.

This past Wednesday's lecture was given by Dr. Francis Haines on the "Rise of Trans-Appalachia." Dr. Haines touched upon the subjects of the Northwest ordinance with the provision for new states and Indian problems, the development of the old Southwest, and the Louisiana Purchase concerning the Mississippi waterway, Napoleon's plan, and the big deal in real estate.

Many were skeptical about the TV classes, but in the first tests given to the TV classes and the regular lecture classes, the test scores were about even.

OCE boasts 61 students attending the TV classes, while U. of O. has 140 student TV watchers.

Kick-off Assembly Begins A-C Drive

To help meet the United Fund Drive goal, students in the surrounding area will participate in a vaudeville show, to be held in Campbell hall's auditorium on Friday, November 15, at 8 p.m., where all proceeds will go to the United Funds.

The charge for this hour program will be 25 cents for students and children and 50 cents for adults.

Entertainment will come from OCE students and faculty, Monmouth and Independence elementary schools, Dallas junior high and Central high school.

Co-chairmen, Sandie Akers and Sally Howard, are hoping the vaudeville show will be bigger and better than ever before so more money can be made toward the United Fund goal.

Other committee heads for the vaudeville show are: Diane Willard, publicity; Lamona Collins, tickets; Shirlee Wilcox, ushers; and Ray Bartley, scenery.

Tickets will be sold in advance in Independence and Monmouth and on campus. Everyone is urged to attend the show for an evening's entertainment that helps others.

Clubs Pledge Support For Fund Campaign

The Kick-Off Assembly for the All Campus Drive will be held in Maple hall on Monday, November 11, from 12:45 to 1:05 p.m. All club presidents will be there with club representation, displaying banners.

Each individual donating to the United Fund will designate his club membership, and each club will be in competition for a 100% donation. Talent from the surrounding school areas and Oregon College of Education students, will comprise the vaudeville show on Friday, November 15, at 8 p.m. A small admission fee will be charged.

Saturday, November 16, is the date of the carnival which will be held from 6:30 to 9 p.m. in the OCE gym. Each club will have a booth and prizes will be provided by the All Campus Drive committee. Two door prizes will be awarded.

Bill Mullin's "Bourbon Street Six" will play for the dance after the carnival. The dance will be held in the Monmouth elementary school gym in back of the Administration building.

Theta Delta Phi Installs PS Chapter

Members and faculty advisers of Theta Delta Phi's local chapter traveled to Portland State yesterday afternoon for the installation of the fourth and newest chapter in the organization. Theta Delta Phi holds a national charter and now has chapters at OCE, SOCE, and EOCE, and is the only men's scholastic honorary on this campus.

OCE's Beta chapter will start the evening's activities with an initiation period featuring an appearance by each member of the new PSC chapter before the visiting group to orally defend a thesis written for the occasion. A formal charter presentation will be the feature of a banquet following the initiation.

The annual business meeting of the national organization will convene at PSC Saturday morning.

Bill Ritchie, Clair Elwood, Gene Ellis and Dewey Tuttle are representing Beta chapter at this meeting.

WHERE DOES THE AUTHORITY PASS???

What is the purpose of a dean on a college campus? It is to hamper the functioning of the student activities that are sponsored for the good not only of the students but of mankind? Whether accidentally or with a purpose such hampering seems to have taken place on our campus.

The All Campus Drive is sponsored each year at Oregon College of Education to enable the student body to give a helping hand to various worth-while agencies. These agencies in turn help underprivileged and disaster areas of our nation. It is regrettable when any person or group on our campus feels that it should interfere with this fund-raising campaign.

This Spring the drama department of OCE informed the deans' office that they wanted the Campbell hall auditorium two weeks prior to the presentation of the Fall play. The deans placed this information on their calendar but failed to communicate with the business office. When the All Campus Drive decided to slate a vaudeville show to raise funds they attempted to reserve the auditorium. They were told that it was reserved by the drama department by the deans. On closer investigation the Drive committee discovered that it was not reserved but had been simply entered in the deans' calendar, so they took the proper steps to reserve it.

This marked the beginning of a struggle to see which group had the true legal claim to the auditorium for Friday, November 15. It seems that there was some controversy over who has the authority to reserve this room. The deans had assumed that in entering it in their calendar it was reserved, yet the Staff Handbook states clearly that it must be reserved through the business office. It all seems to boil down to lack of communication on the parts of many individuals and the dissemination of false information on the part of others.

The deans told the drive committee in no uncertain terms that the drama department held first claim to the auditorium. Was it necessary for the deans to state their terms in an absolute manner? If we are to follow the Staff Handbook it appears that they were in error in scheduling the auditorium in the first place. If this is the case would it not have been simply a matter of courtesy to attempt to rectify the error in a manner satisfactory to both parties? But the rectification of error was left to Mr. Robb.

Let's hope that such an incident will never arise again. If it should let's hope that a more satisfactory manner of handling such a problem will be found.

United Fund Chairmen Urge Student Donation

Give 75c for our 75th anniversary!

Help OCE raise its goal of $750 for the All-Campus Drive.

Monday, after the kick-off assembly, envelopes will be distributed in the post office boxes with the list of clubs to be checked according to membership, and the money is to be put inside. A record of all the clubs will be kept to see which one gets nearest 100% the fastest. So help boost your club's percentage by giving Monday!

After the money is in the envelopes they are to be taken to Maple hall, where a treasure chest awaits, abroad the ship "Ye Old Goodwill." By day various students will "guard" it, and by night the Wolf Knights will stand duty.

SOEA Sponsors Film For Education Week

The SOEA club will sponsor the 1957 National Education film entitled "Not By Chance," to be shown Monday, November 11, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Monmouth elementary school. The film is shown in cooperation with National Education week, from November 11 through November 18.

Letters to The Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

What happens when the red-tape breaks?

What happens when the regular channels for scheduling school affairs are by-passed?

THIS:

The faculty hand book, page 3 of the 1957-58 edition, states clearly that the scheduling of Campbell hall auditorium should be handled in the following manner: "Call the assistant business manager in the business office, extension 3, for a reservation. If he is not available, ask the switch board operator to leave a note on his desk, indicating the need for a reservation."

This sounds fairly simple for college people to follow. But it seems that a little curve is thrown into the prescribed method and this is the result: One is to go to the deans' office and write in a notebook, with little sheets of paper in it containing the dates on these sheets of paper, the time and days he wants the auditorium.

This is not the method followed by the All-Campus Drive assistant chairman, thus we do not, I understand, get to use the auditorium.

Tradition, it is said, gives the auditorium to the school play for the two weeks previous to any play. This tradition, I may add, was initiated last year. It is not tradition yet.

Is it fair to have the deans run a scheduling business and completely ignore the correct method? Their method must be secret obviously, as it is not printed so everybody can read it and follow it. Or is it for a select few?

If a method is given and laid down in rules in a handbook, one which is given to every faculty member and they can read, why is the rule ignored? What else is being pushed aside by these people. Are any of them affecting you and your activities? I think it is about time that this mess was cleared up, and the established rule be followed or abolished.

KEITH RICHARD,
All-Campus Drive Chairman

TO THE EDITOR:

Due to an error on the part of many, it appears that the rectification of the said error concerning the use of the CH auditorium Friday, November 15, lies with me. After due consideration of the nature and purpose of the activity involved, I feel that the All Campus Drive should be permitted to use these facilities. This does not negate the policy that C.H. auditorium is to be kept free for dramatic rehearsals for the two weeks prior to performance.

—A. R. Robb

TO THE EDITOR:

It's a sorry state of affairs when the ASOCE student council will not only stand for but condone an open insult to the men on our campus.

When the council approved the importation of men from another campus for a dance at Todd hall it did this. What is the matter with the men on our own campus, or is it that something is wrong with the girls?

It seems the latter is nearer the truth. A great number of men haven't even been asked to the Sadie Hawkins' dance yet. Are our OCE girls of the notion that a small campus man lacks something that large campus men have? Girls, let us assure you that small and large campus men are quite similar, biologically and intellectually!

—ELEVEN OCE MEN

TO THE EDITOR:

The charge of unfair has been lodged against the women of Todd hall because of a proposed exchange dance with an OSC men's hall, by OCE's men of Maaske hall. This claim has been supported with protests that many of Maaske's men have been spurned as possible Sadie Hawkins' drags.

The simple solution to this problem is: If you wish to be asked to a girl-ask-boy affair, then first ask the girl to a boy-ask-girl event. Turn-about's fair play, fellows. We're tired of sitting in the dorm week-ends. Even books can lose their initial appeal. Now it's your turn to try sitting it out for a week-end.

This dance was not originally planned to thwart or antagonize you, nor did we intentionally intend to hurt anyone's feelings. But since this seems to be the result then just remember there are other invitational dances planned. So, play your cards right, see to your own responsibilities, and you may get an invitation yet.

Quaker Committee Discusses Projects

An American Friends Service committee visited OCE November 6, to show how summer projects and activities helped in an endeavor to unite more than 1000 young people from various countries.

Bob Carlson of the Portland regional office of the AFSC, explained that these young people who, participated in projects sponsored by the group learned the experience of sharing and helping others.

Local state projects for the past summer included programs at Oregon state hospital in Salem, and at the MacLaren home for boys in Woodburn.

AFSC is a Quaker organization which provides an opportunity for interested students to work in these project laboratories.

"Okinawa" IRC Topic, Larry Keppinger Talks From Veteran's View

"A Veteran Looks at Okinawa" will be the theme of the program for the International Relations club meeting Monday evening, November 11, when Larry Keppinger will present some of his impressions of that country. Mr. Keppinger, a sophomore at OCE, graduated from Salem high school before entering the army in 1954. He spent two years in an infantry division and for three months was enrolled in a school in Japan. He will show slides to illustrate his talk.

Last Monday evening Mrs. Helen Thompson, teacher in the Monmouth schools, told of her trip to Japan where she spent two weeks as a guest of a Japanese family. She also showed slides.

Besides Monday evening meetings, the IRC plans other activities, among which at present is to sponsor a booth in the All-Campus Drive carnival. All students desiring to participate in these activities are invited to any of the club functions.

Orientation Class Visits Salem Capitol

A group of 40 freshmen from the Thursday nine o'clock orientation classes made a trip to Salem on November 7 to see the Legislature in action.

Students left OCE at 9:30 by car and bus to attend the state session where the discussion concerned the reduction of state taxes.

Joan Seavey, dean of women, accompanied the group which returned from the tour at noon.

Halloween Eve Marked By Club Initiation Rites

Six men students saw this year's Halloween off to an unusual start Thursday evening when they appeared before members of OCE's men's scholastic honorary, Theta Delta Phi. They defended the thesis that each had submitted as partial requirement for membership.

Bob Myers, Dick Louthan, Ron Rainsbury, Bob Richard, Don Toews and Nathan Toews were then "welcomed" by the members with traditional secret ceremonies presided over by prexy Bill Ritchie. They then joined the rest of the organization in enjoying a hot-cake supper in the Monmouth elementary school cafeteria with "chef" Jack Little presiding.

Invitation to membership in Theta Delta Phi is limited to men students completing two successive terms with a GPA of 3.0 or better.

Lumgair Injured; Flug To Go at Fullback

McArthur Gives High Praise to Pack; Wolves to Show Many Features Today

Many added features will be put into Oregon College of Education's last game this afternoon in Memorial Stadium when the Wolves go against the Red Devils of Lower Columbia J.C.

With this being the last game and a non-conference affair, Bill McArthur, OCE coach, will show local fans a sample of the Wolves' multiple offense which consists of a blocking back T, a flanker back T, and a belly series T formation. The latter was newly inserted this week by McArthur and throughout this week practices it has shown great possibilities.

Lumgair Out

Midweek x-rays showed that regular fullback Don Lumgair suffered broken ribs in the OTI

Stan Kenyon
... Ex-QB, Now End

game so will be sidelined today. Capable Jerry Flug will get the nod for this starting position.

Another reserve broke into the starting lineup as right end this week. After a fine showing on defense at Klamath Falls Saturday Stan Kenyon moved into the line at this position.

Best Offensive Team

The quick-witted OCE mentor this week gave his team praise when he said unjokingly, "This is the best offensive team I've ever coached and as far as pass defense goes I can say the same. When you can hold seven teams to 45 yards a game by passing you just have to say they are good."

"Mac" continued with, "I would not trade my 152 pound backfield for any in the smaller schools of the Pacific Northwest. When you have a passer like Bowlen, runners like Buss and Gernhart and a blocker like Lumgair, you don't need any other backfield." McArthur concluded with, "and you certainly can't overlook the tremendous job of the entire line. To me Jim Atkins and Barry Adams have done especially fine jobs this season."

Wolf Review

By RALPH GALE

Those latest statistics from the NCAA small college school statistical bureau in New York City have done everything but pay OCE quarterback Jim Bowlen's expenses to a first string All Conference berth. The quiet Canadian was again ranked seventh in total offense for national small schools and this week he climbed to 12th spot in the passing category. . . . This should, without doubt, get him first string OCC.

Len Breuer
... alert at OTI

We're not satisfied with just one first unit placement; not by a long way. We expect three more OCE Wolves to cop the honors. In fact one of the three is being pushed by sports writer Carl Cluff of the Oregon Journal as Little All American and if not that, at least — Little All Coast. — He's Wyman (Wimp) Gernhart, the 150 lb. speedster from Hillsboro. Watch the Portland and Salem newspapers.

That's two of the four. Another almost sure bet is Barry Adams, tackle from Oswego. Adams and Gernhart are both All Conference from last year and are expected to repeat again this season. . . . Besides Bowlen, another new face should be seen on the OCC starting eleven. . . . Big Jim Atkins, the 6' 1", 225 lb. guard who McArthur claims is "The most improved player on the club." . . . There's a story behind the performances of Atkins during his football career here at OCE. During the previous two seasons the Plainview, Texas, boy played way below capacity — Capacity?? No you can't say capacity either, because of his "bum knee" handicap. . . . Atkins wasn't planning on playing this season because of repeated injuries which caused him leg trouble all summer, but after a couple of days of practice the "bug" got him and he reported to McArthur for grid duty. He refrained from contact work until the correct knee brace arrived and then settled down for what was to be his greatest year of football.

Johnson in the last three games has accumulated 32 tackles. Breuer, at OTI, recovered three fumbles. You might say, "More fight, pound for pound."

LITTLE BREAKS MAKE BIG BREAKS:

This time the big break came for Jerry Flug who will take over the fullback chores for regular Don Lumgair who sustained one broken and two cracked ribs at OTI last Saturday. This will be Flug's starting debut and might possibly give the Heppner lad enough incentive to tear the Devil out of things. . . . Incidentally, this is the first injury of the year that has kept a regular from starting.
